

REPORT OF THE GLOBALEX MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE MEETING FOR DECEMBER 2019

Attending the Globalex virtual meeting on 18 December were Ilan Kernerman, Simon Krek, Julia Miller, and Lars Trap-Jensen. This Report summarizes the meeting highlights.*

Workshops. The Globalex LREC workshop will take place on May12, 2020, with the theme “linked lexicography.” A CFP has gone out and Simon will make announcements via various mailing lists. A call for papers to the Globalex workshop at Euralex 2020 went out a few weeks ago. No limitation on the languages covered is foreseen, and the program committee of Euralex and the workshop organizers (Ilan and Annette Klosa) will select from the widest range of submissions.

Conferences. There is a risk of conferences coinciding in 2021, as eLex is considering holding its next conference in Brno in June 2021. That June is already crowded with conferences, given that Asialex and Afrilex conferences are usually held in June, the DSNA biennial meeting is scheduled for June 2-5 in Boulder (Colorado), and the Nordic conference is likely to take place in early June or late May. The eLex date will be set at a meeting in January.

Website. Teja has updated the Events page with the recent information about the workshops. About publications on the Globalex website and the Elexifinder task, Simon reports that work is not yet completed but is in progress.

Julia mentions that the Australex website will move to a new host.

*The management committee keeps minutes of its meetings; this summary report informs the Continental Associations of the matters discussed and provide a document to share with their members.
